PURPOSE

The purpose of the concentration in composition is to provide a course of study that will prepare students to become doctoral students in composition, professional composers, and teachers of composition.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

1. Successful completion of at least 36 hours of graduate course work
2. A piano proficiency examination to be taken after the second semester of enrollment or 20 hours of study.
3. MUS 8890 Composition Recital
4. MUS 8910 Final Project in Composition
5. Comprehensive examination

Coursework normally requires four semesters of full-time study for completion. Not every course is offered every year. Time necessary for completion of any remedial work and proficiency requirements should be included in the student's plans. At least 18 hours of course credit must come from courses for graduate students only. The student will be assigned an advisor who will aid in planning course selections.

Proficiency in keyboard harmony may be demonstrated by completing MUS 6760 (Advanced Keyboard Harmony), or by the student's passing a proficiency test in which the student must be able to:

- Transpose a melodic line to any key
- Sight-read a four-part open score involving alto and/or tenor clef
- Sight-read a rhythmically complex melodic line
- Realize a figured bass in four voices, with or without a given soprano, and including chromatic harmonies and all inversions
- Improvise chord progressions to include specified chords and/or modulations, with correct voice-leading required
- Satisfactorily realize his/her own compositions as appropriate to the keyboard

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

By the midpoint of the final semester of study, the student will schedule an oral and/or written examination. The committee should include at least three faculty members (including the composition instructor and a theory or history faculty member). The examination will assess the student's knowledge regarding repertoire, pedagogy, music theory, and music history. The student will be expected to synthesize his/her knowledge and demonstrate a high level of musical understanding. Preparation should include a detailed review of all graduate courses taken and a review of the music that has been studied and performed as part of the master's program. It is the student's responsibility to provide a copy of all literature studied (both solo and chamber) and a listing of all graduate courses taken during the Master's program for each committee member at least one week before the scheduled examination date. The scheduled date of the comprehensive examination must be submitted to the Director of Graduate Studies no later than the midpoint of the final semester of study. Students planning to graduate in the Fall or Spring must complete the comprehensive examination by the end of the twelfth week of classes. Students planning to graduate in the Summer must complete the comprehensive examination by the end of the fourth week of classes.
